Dana college and Trinity theological seminary, Blair, Neb.

Trinity theological seminary was opened at Blair, Neb., 1884, as the theological school of the Danish Evangelical Lutheran church association of America. In 1896 when this church body united with the Danish Evangelical Lutheran church of North America, Trinity seminary became the theological school of the United Danish Evangelical Lutheran church of America. In 1899 the College of Elk Horn, Ia., was moved to Blair and united with the seminary, and the name was changed to Dana college and Trinity theological seminary.

This is one of the chief Danish Lutheran educational institutions in the country.

Danforth, John, 1650-1730.

Judgment begun at the house of God: and the righteous scarcely saved. Blessed Peter's prophecy of a dreadful time of visitation considered; with his alarm to the godly; advising them of their dangers, & inciting their precaution, and necessary armament; and his premonition concerning the ensuing catastrophe of the carnal and ungodly. Truths not unsuitable for the present generations to think on, considering what times are now in view. By John Danforth, A. M. pastor of the church at (Continued on next card)

Contents.—Coy Daphne fed.—Thou pretty bird.—He whose desires are still abroad.—Like as the lute delights.—Dost thou withdraw thy grace?—Why cast thou not?—Stay, cruel, stay!—Time, cruel time.—Crisp keep within.—Let not Cleve think.—Can I doleful note?—Eyes look no more.—If I could shut the gate.—I die whom I do not see.—What delight can they enjoy?—Now the earth, the skies, the air.
